

Charles Boettcher Held by Kidnapers For $60,000 Ransom

Deer To Fortune and Friend of Col. Lindbergh Latest Victim of Kidnapers—Exact Contents of Ransom Note Not Revealed.

Deer, Colo., Feb. 13 (AP)—A victim of a wealthy, pioneer Colorado family, Charles Boettcher, 11, today was held by kidnapers for a purported $60,000 ransom.

Two masked men, accosting the 11-year-old boy to a fortune and his wife at the garage as they returned from a party at midnight, herded them into an upstairs room of their home, remained several minutes, handed the wife a ransom note and departed with Boettcher in a motor car.

Detectives and police who swarmed to the home and then started a search for Boettcher, a friend of Col. Charles A. Lindbergh, announced they were told a watchman on the grounds had been informed of the kidnapping shortly after it happened but that after an investigation he decided nothing was amiss.

Police said the watchman, who they identified only as Stephens, received his information from a cook in a neighboring home, who related to detectives she and a man friend were stopped by a motorist who said he feared a robbery or a kidnapping was taking place.

Investigators said the men, both armed, said to Mrs. Boettcher when she was handed the ransom demand: "Give this to Claude and don't read it. He'll know what to do."

"Claude" is Boettcher's father, Claude K. Boettcher.

The note, typewritten on a piece of white paper, read in part: "Don't notify the police. Tell Claude Boettcher he better get $60,000 ransom. He better do business. Follow instructions. Notify us through a personal ad in the newspapers. Say 'ready to come home, Mabel, when you're ready.' Don't forget the Lindbergh baby would still be alive if the ransom had been paid."

Mrs. Boettcher told police the men appeared out of the darkness as Boettcher alighted from the car.

"Come here, Charles, and stick up your hands," one of the men ordered. "Do what you're told and everything will be all right."

Mrs. Boettcher, who had remained in the car, said she sensed the situation and told her husband: "This is a holdup, don't resist."

The kidnapers were startled when an automobile came around a corner and its lights reflected in the driveway.

"Put your hands down until that car gets by," one of the men ordered Boettcher, who complied.

The car was believed to have been that of the unidentified man who notified the domestic in a home next door that a kidnapping or robbery was taking place in the Boettcher driveway.

MRS. ROOSEVELT TO DRIVE OWN ROOSTER TO CAPITAL

New York, Feb. 13 (AP)—Accompanied by her two dogs, Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt plans on March 3 to drive her own car, a roadster, to Washington where the next day she will begin her career as mistress of the White House.

"Someone will have to take the dogs and the car to Washington," she said today, "and I shall enjoy doing it myself. I love to drive."

"Of course I suppose my real reason is that I want to get away for a few hours."

"Those first few weeks in Washington are going to be strenuous. I shall have to make quite a few readjustments in my way of living and doing things. It isn't always going to be easy."

"With that in prospect, I shall need to get away for a little while to be quiet and think things over."

"I haven't made up my mind when I shall start, but probably very early in the morning of March 3. I like to drive early in the morning. I have to be in Washington by lunch time, and it's a seven-hour drive, so, you see, I'll have to start fairly early. But I think that's what I'll do."

Lehman's Tax Plans Due for Show-Down Sometime This Week

Albany, N. Y., Feb. 13 (AP)—A show-down is due at the Capitol this week, the seventh of the present legislative session, on Governor Lehman's new tax proposals.

The Republicans are expected to make known after a meeting before tonight's legislative formalities whether they will go along with Governor Lehman in the executive's plan for a retail sales tax of 0.75 per cent, a one cent increase in the gasoline tax and a tax of one per cent on gross incomes as means of raising $84,000,000 in new revenue to balance the state budget.

If they decide to present a tax program of their own, they may propose to increase the sales tax to a point high enough to bring all the revenue, or they may have recourse to the new tax suggestions presented last week by the Mastick commission for revision of tax laws.

Many of the lawmakers on the Republican side and a few on the Democratic side are known to favor a sales tax higher than the one Governor Lehman recommended, rather than a higher gasoline tax or a one per cent tax on gross incomes.

Force Hard Pressed

Chinese dispatches said their forces resisting a Japanese offensive in Jehol province were hard pressed in the vicinity of the city of Chaoyang. Seven thousand Japanese troops were reported concentrating on the East Jehol battlefield.

Fears that Japan was on the verge of encroachment from the League caused a heavy slump in the Tokyo stock exchange. A foreign office spokesman said he believed Japan's withdrawal from the League was a foregone conclusion.

"American aid to China" was involved in the recent removal of Chinese art treasures from Peking, a Japanese official spokesman said. He claimed the treasures from the ancient capital were transported to southern cities as security for an American loan of about $12,000,000.

The Japanese government voiced a threat to slam the open door of Manchuria in the world's face if the powers attempt to outlaw Japan. "We can feed ourselves indefinitely without help," he said.

Chinese society women were giving up social functions in an attempt to complete the sewing of 10,000 padded suits within the next few days for Chinese troops in the cold northern mountain regions.

NIECE OF ROCKEFELLER TO PICK BEST DOG IN SHOW

New York, Feb. 13 (AP)—With barks, whines, and plenty of material for fights, 2,339 dogs, every one a thoroughbred, settled down today in Madison Square Garden for the fifty-seventh Westminster Kennel Club show.

The Westminster show is the largest in America and the second largest in the world. The dogs appearing in the show rings for three days, beginning Monday, are valued at hundreds of thousands of dollars. Very often dogs are bought in Europe to be shown in the Garden.

Nearly 100 breeds began their parade through the rings today on the main floor of the Garden, where prize fights, wrestling matches, and hockey games are conducted at other times.

The show has several unusual features this year. The selection of the best animal in the show will be made Wednesday night by Mrs. Geraldine Rockefeller Dodge, a niece of John D. Rockefeller and the first woman ever invited to pick the grand champion at a Westminster show.

APPLICATIONS MADE FOR JUNGLE WEDDING

The announcement of the jungle wedding, to take place in a den of 10 black maned lions at the old state armory has already created quite a comment and already three young couples have submitted their application to start their married life in the midst of these jungle beasts. There will be but one couple selected by the Firemen's Committee and any young man and lady may submit applications and possibly be selected for this honor.

It will be a novel experience to get married in this manner and get the $200 reward the firemen are offering a score of useful gifts. The bride and groom will both be presented with outfits from head to foot. A wedding ring for the bride and useful things that a young woman might need to start housekeeping will be presented.

No doubt this mammoth big indoor event will attract patronage from all parts of the county.

Japan Tells League Of Stand Concerning Manchukuoan Govt.

(By The Associated Press.)

Soon after Japan informed the League of Nations today that it was adamant in its determination to preserve the Manchukuoan government in Manchuria, a spokesman for the Chinese minister to Tokyo would be withdrawn in the event the Japanese started a drive in the adjoining Chinese province, Jehol.

The Chinese spokesman, T. V. Soong, acting premier and finance minister, said he did not "see the use of keeping a minister in Tokyo if there should be a drive on Jehol as obviously diplomatic measures would be of no avail."

He replied "this matter is of no consequence" when asked if China were likely to declare war on Japan, but added "any attack on Jehol would be just like an attack on Nanking and would be met by the force of the entire nation."

The League, which has drafted a recommendation that member nations refuse to recognize Manchukuo, had requested Japan's views on proposal to discontinue that government.

Milk Prices Will Be Fixed by Law If Plan Is Enacted

Albany, N. Y., Feb. 13 (AP)—Prices which the milk dealer must pay to the producer and charge the consumer will be fixed by a state control board if the Picher committee's bill for state milk control, to be presented in the Legislature this week, is enacted into law.

The bill is the result of months of study and public hearings by the committee, headed by Senator Perley A. Picher, Watertown Republican, in many sections of New York, one of the leading dairying states.

Update dairymen favoring the measure say it is "an emergency measure to perpetuate the milk industry." The dairymen of the Jefferson and St. Lawrence county area were told at a gathering in Watertown last week that producers will be getting only 50 cents a hundred for their milk by June unless they get some form of aid. The dairymen believe $1.50 or $2.00 a hundred would mean "normal times" for the industry, from the standpoint of price.

Other provisions of the Picher bill, which probably will be presented at tonight's session or tomorrow's, will be:

1. The licensing of all dealers who handle more than 10,000 pounds of milk a month.

2. Power for the milk control board to revoke licenses when unfair trade practices occur.

Men Still Working On Snow Removal

The heavy fall of snow on Saturday morning is the means of giving work to a number of otherwise idle men, and today the emergency work relief bureau had about 425 men and 75 trucks at work removing snow from the streets.

The work of snow removal started as early as 3 o'clock Saturday morning, and work continued all day on Sunday and today.

The bus and districts have been tied up in the city by the snow. The snow plows after opening the main arteries of traffic have been busy opening up the side streets and snow plows kept running all day Sunday.

The snow has halted practically all construction work that was under way by the work relief, and the men were taken off and put on snow removal work. Those who have had several days work will be laid off tonight and a new gang placed at work Tuesday morning. The work relief bureau is trying to distribute the work as much as possible.

Three Arrested For Public Intoxication

Mr. and Mrs. Orville G. Hendrickson of 11 Gage street and Albert Riggs of 28 Chapel street, were arrested shortly after midnight Saturday by Trooper Coons and lodged in the Ulster county jail on charges of public intoxication, following an accident near Ivy Lodge on the Saugerties road.

The car in which the three were riding struck the car of George E. McLane of 293 Wall street, damaging the running board and fenders across the road and landing in the ditch. There were no injuries. The McLane car at the time was parked at one side of the road while he made some repairs to a tire chain.

The three defendants were arraigned before Justice Walter Weber the next day. The judge fined Mrs. Hendrickson $25 on a charge of public intoxication and $10 for driving a car while intoxicated. Her husband was given a fine of $10 and Riggs was also given a $10 fine, both on charges of intoxication. The Hendricksons paid their fines. Riggs was committed to the Ulster county jail for ten days in default of fine.

Ambulance Calls Here.

Saturday the ambulance removed Mrs. Virgil Kelly from the Kingston Hospital to her home, 27 Hudson street. On Sunday the ambulance removed Mrs. Virginia Madison from the Kingston Hospital to the Orchard Hotel; Mary Holden from 124 Hasbrouck avenue to the Benedictine Hospital and James McNally from 315 Broadway to the Benedictine Hospital.

Members of the new sea scout unit acted as stage managers and field judges for the various events.

The exhibits were interesting and some of them unusual. Finaglan, Archer & Watkins showed a complete exhibit of scout uniforms and equipment, which they carry as official scout outfitters. Troop 24 of Shokan exhibited archery tackle and woodcarving. Troop 12 of Highland had a fine exhibit of butterflies and insects, mounted; specimens of mineral and rocks found in the vicinity of Highland, and Indian relics, including arrow heads, hatchets, etc.

Troop 5, Kingston, knothooks and handicraft. Troop 6, Kingston, first aid tent and handicraft. Troop 12, Kingston, Indian village and Indian handicraft, pioneering exhibit.

Troops 27 and 28 of Ellenville had planned to send some 40 scouts to the rally and to take part in the contests, but due to the fact that the Ellenville-Kingston road was not scraped until evening their leaders decided that they did not care to take the responsibility of sending the boys over the road. Troops from Wallkill and Marlborough also decided not to make the trip.

Debs Discussion Range.

London, Feb. 13 (AP)—Prime Minister MacDonald told the House of Commons today that the debts discussion at Washington next month will range over the whole program outlined for the projected world economic conference.

1,200 Persons Were Present for Second Annual Scout Rally

About 200 Scouts Took Part in Annual Jamboree Demonstrating Skill at Scoutcraft and Athletics—Troop 12 Won First Place.

Despite the heavy snowstorm Saturday morning and road conditions that kept some 75 Scouts from being present, the rally of the Boy Scouts of Ulster county, held at the new armory Saturday afternoon and evening was a success, some 250 Scouts being present.

There was a fine exhibit of Scout craftsmanship that was viewed with appreciation by many people during the afternoon and before the program in the evening. It was estimated that at least 1,200 people came out for the contests and demonstrations in the evening and they were well repaid for their trouble. There was plenty of competition and enthusiasm shown in the various contests and a number of interesting demonstrations were given.

An outstanding feature of the evening was the music contributed by the band of 25 pieces, furnished by the Musicians Union of Kingston and directed by Paul Zucca. The band gave a concert before the program of the evening started and also played several selections later. During the afternoon there was radio entertainment furnished through the courtesy of Rose & Gorman.

The contests furnished plenty of keen competition and several unlooked for results. Notably was the contest for first to start a fire by use of the bow and drill. There were four competitors and a moral for perseverance could be drawn from the fact that the winner was a member of Troop 12 who had all sorts of bad luck at the start, but kept at it and won in the end. In the tent pitching contest much the same thing happened when the troop that was all set for the prize had a tent stake come out at the last minute, costing them just enough time for the nearest competitor to come up and finish ahead.

The evening program opened with a grand parade, followed by the contests and demonstrations. At the conclusion a court of honor was held, presided over by Judge Joseph M. Fowler, assisted by Superintendent of Schools E. C. Van Ingen and Major Hildebrand. In all there were 287 awards listed, but many of those who were to receive awards were not present and their badges will be awarded at later courts of honor in their district.

Shoppers Prepare For Kingston Day Wednesday

Torchlight Parade Tuesday Evening Will Usher in Big Cooperative Sales in All of City's Stores—Event Has Been Widely Advertised.

Wednesday is Kingston Day in all of the stores of Kingston, when one of the biggest sales events in the history of local merchandising will be held. The event will be ushered in with a big torchlight parade on Tuesday evening through the main streets of the city. The members of the Ulster Business Men's Association have been requested to meet at the Rose & Gorman store at 7:30 o'clock Tuesday night where the parade will form.

It has been years since a torchlight parade was held in Kingston. Years ago during the big political campaigns it was the usual custom to stage torchlight parades through the city. These will be band music and torches and everything Tuesday night. All of the principal streets have been opened to traffic and weather conditions permitting the parade should prove a huge success.

The parade is just a rounder in which all of the stores will participate. Merchandise could never be bought cheaper than it can be purchased at the present time when a dollar goes as far as it did in the days before the World War.

The merchants state that the values offered will amaze. The event has been extensively advertised and as all the highways leading into Kingston have been opened by snow plows it is expected that the sale will draw people to Kingston from many miles around.

POLITICAL CLASHES IN GEIMANY CONTINUE

Berlin, Feb. 13 (AP)—Sanctuary clashes between Chancellor Hitler's National Socialists and their political opponents showed no signs of abatement today with at least eleven persons slain and 23 injured in week-end battles.

Slayings occurred in eight different towns and cities in various sections of the Reich. Nazis, who claimed they were fired on from Communist headquarters in Elsterhausen raided the building and at least three persons were killed and 15 hurt in hand-to-hand fighting. Communists were reported to have hidden their dead and injured.

Hoover to Make Last Address

Washington, Feb. 13 (AP)—President Hoover today was finishing the final address of his administration to be delivered tonight before the National Republican Club at a Lincoln Day dinner in New York.

The main portion of his speech was finished yesterday, but some part was left for completion this morning. Mr. Hoover and his party will leave Washington this afternoon for New York.

White House aides have maintained that the speech would be non-political, but notice was taken that it would be delivered at a political rally commemorating a founder of the Republican party and that it would be Mr. Hoover's last speech as president. Mr. Hoover conferred at length last night with Secretary Mills. It was assumed a part of the address would deal with the economic situation.

Mrs. Hoover will accompany the president to New York, as will two of his close political advisers, Postmaster General Brown and Chairman Sanders of the Republican National Committee.

The party will arrive in New York more than an hour before the dinner begins. It was assumed that the Hoovers would go direct to the Waldorf Astoria where the speech is to be made.

The president expects to be back in the White House before breakfast tomorrow.

Senate Committee Seeking Solution

Washington, Feb. 13 (AP)—The pages of a Senate committee's notebook were opened today to receive the ideas of nation's leaders on what might be done to banish hard times. Senator Harrison (D., Miss.) sponsored the hearings before the finance committee to give President-elect Roosevelt a complete cross-section of the leaders' views for his use in attacking the problem of restoring industry and agriculture.

Bernard M. Baruch, New York financier, and C. C. Teague, of Santa Paula, California, former member of the farm board, were the first witnesses asked to appear today.

Nearly 100 other men prominent in business, agriculture, labor, and the church have accepted invitations to present their ideas during the course of the hearings which are to extend beyond March 4.

UNSIGHTLY SKIN NOW LIKE VELVET PRAISES RESINOL

"My skin was in a terrible condition. I tried many treatments but with no success. One day, after reading a Resinol advertisement in the paper, I decided to give Resinol Ointment and Resinol Soap a trial. I could tell the difference in my skin after the first treatment. Within a week, by using Resinol Ointment and Resinol Soap each day, my skin was as smooth as velvet. I cannot praise the Resinol products enough." Mrs. B. D. Williams, Rural Retreat, Baltimore, Md.

AMERICA'S

10 BIGGEST PROBLEMS

No. 5

Man's Struggle
With Modern Life

Changing Times Present a Problem

Imagine the problems of a cave man if he were brought to modern New York to live. Rules, temptations, moral ethics, repetition of work—all these would place a terrific strain on him. Thus it is to some extent, with modern man and our rapidly changing civilization. The great strain on people and their inability to change with the times is seen by Prof. William H. Ogburn as one of America's 10 big problems.

The way man spends his leisure time would seem to be related to this problem. The right kind of recreation is restful and should relieve stress and strain.

Man's leisure time has been increased about 15 per cent in the past third of a century, and it has certainly been employed in the satisfaction of an enormous hunger for recreation. Outdoor physical recreation must also have psychological effects. Religion of course is the great comforter and has been man's greatest support in his tribulations. It has been perhaps the greatest single force in helping him bear the stresses of life.

Adequate group life and family life must also be considered in connection with one of the ten great problems before man in the future.

Tomorrow: "Molding the Next Generation." We are what we are largely because of the influences of our early childhood and not because of heredity, says Prof. Ogburn, except within broad limits. Whether we shall be happy, well-adjusted, make good mates, and successful parents depends largely on how we are brought up. Parent education, the reorganization of schools in the line of progressive education and the proper group life are policies to be pursued, he says in his next article.

Live Business Men Advertise in THE FREEMAN

Taking the Chase Out of Purchase

ADVERTISING benefits the man who buys as well as the man who sells. It is part of the Golden Rule of Business and it works both ways.

Don't miss the advertisements in this newspaper. Many of them are interesting just because of their news and educational value alone.

But more than that: Advertisements take the chase out of purchase and make every penny do its full duty.

This last statement is one particularly to be remembered when common-sense economy is not only a national duty, but an individual necessity.

Plans Complete For K. of C. Ball

All roads are open leading to the new armory where the local council of the Knights of Columbus will hold their 14th Annual Charity Ball this Friday evening. It is expected that this beautiful new building of which every resident of this vicinity is so proud will be completely filled with a joyous and carefree crowd who besides enjoying an evening of pleasure will also be aiding the charity fund of the Knights which is in large demand during the present period of distress.

The doors at the new armory will be opened at seven o'clock enabling the early comers to secure good seats from which they will hear a concert of delightful musical arrangements starting at eight o'clock. A program featuring by many high class artists of the stage and radio will begin about 8:30 in order to provide plenty of time for the many acts that will be presented. General dancing to the melodious strains of Ernie's orchestra and the Paramount Broadcasters will be in order at the conclusion of the entertainment part of the program. Excellent refreshments will be served in the commodious dining room throughout the entire evening, and it is hoped that everyone will liberally patronize this enticing feature.

HIGHWAY LINKS U. S. WITH MEXICO CITY

Opens Up Southern Neighbor to Tourist Travel.

Washington.—Mexico is pushing forward its greatest highway project—an improved road linking the United States border at Laredo, Texas, with its capital, Mexico City. The Federal highway commission of Mexico states that this 770-mile section, opening up northeastern Mexico to tourist travel and trade, will probably be ready for through traffic in June, 1933.

A bulletin from the National Geographic society describes the chief cities and scenic features along this picturesque route, which will be a part of the proposed 10,000-mile Pan-American highway linking Washington, D. C., with Buenos Aires, Argentina, and other Latin American capitals.

"Motorists seeking new roads to conquer will find that this 'farthest south' for a continuous highway journey from the United States is a roadway of spectacular variety," says the bulletin. "The route traverses deserts, mile-high mountains, ranch country, lush tropical jungles, and, in places, runs through deep canyons where the highway is a mere scratch on the steep mountainside."

Ties Up With United States.

"From San Antonio, Texas, a paved road southward to the twin border cities of Laredo and Nuevo Laredo ties in the new Mexican highway with the improved road system of the United States. Nuevo Laredo, in the Mexican State of Tamaulipas, and the first city to be reached after crossing the Rio Grande, has developed amazingly in the last two years, since pavement was completed to Monterrey. This 151-mile section compares favorably with the best American highways. One stretch runs 45 miles across the desert without a curve."

"Monterrey, the capital of the State of Nuevo Leon, is surrounded by mile-high peaks, the most conspicuous being its famous Saddle mountain (Monte de la Silla)."

"An improved gravel road leads from Monterrey over the mountains to the west to Saltillo, capital of Coahuila, a region of ranges where long-horned cattle graze. This eventually will be part of a through route to Mexico City via San Luis Potosi."

"The main highway today, however, strikes south to Ciudad Victoria. This 180-mile section is about a quarter paved and the rest is all-weather gravel. Here the road winds through one of the chief fruit-raising sections of Mexico."

Paradise for Hunters.

"From this point to the little town of Valles, in the State of San Luis Potosi, the road surface alternates between gravel and graded earth. This region is a paradise for hunters—wild boar, deer, raccoon, quail and turkey being plentiful. Coffee, cotton, rice and vanilla beans are the principal crops."

"In the rugged mountain section between Valles and the village of Jacala, in the State of Hidalgo, construction work has been moving forward slowly since April, 1931. Here the road climbs from the dense tropical jungles and swamps along the Tamul river, where parrots fly overhead, and gorgeous flowers and banana groves border the highway, to the tableland."

"From Jacala southward an improved highway will carry the route through Pachuca, an important silver mining town, into Mexico City. Rapid progress has been made here in recent months, and what some travelers once characterized as the 'most dangerous road in the world' may soon be a modern boulevard, a monument to engineering skill. Near Pachuca are great basaltic formations sometimes called 'The Giant Causeway of America.'"

"From Mexico City modern roads are branching out in all directions. The longest, of all-weather gravel construction, extends over the Old Spanish Trail to Acapulco. Another carries the Pan-American Highway southward to the city of Puebla."

Odd Request Phoned From France to U. S. Concern

St. Louis, Mo.—What is believed to be the strangest request ever made of an industrial organization came over trans-Atlantic telephone to St. Louis from Marseilles, France.

The request came from Howard Y. Berry, business manager of the Haggenback-Wallace circus, to Paul Ryan, advertising manager of the Shell Petroleum corporation.

The circus man asked for assistance in getting 20 Indian natives out of the Indian mountains.

He is leaving for India immediately and asked that letters of introduction be sent Shell representatives in Calcutta and Rangoon that would help him obtain co-operation from government officials in taking the natives out of the country.

HIGHLAND LAUNDRY CHANGES OWNERS

The New System Laundry of Highland, established two and a half years ago by Frank W. Ames and conducted by him until his sudden death on New Year's Eve, has been sold by his widow, Mrs. Harriet S. Ames to Lester Wright of Long Island City and Edward Winslow of Bennington, Vt.

The new owners will lease the building and will take possession of the business on February 14. Both are experienced in their line. Mr. Wright for many years has been associated with the Morey La Rue Laundry of Elizabeth, N. J., and Mr. Winslow's connections have been general and extensive.

The name, New System Laundry, will be retained, as will the present employees. The new owners will install some additional equipment and plan to increase the personnel as soon as business conditions warrant.

Mrs. Ames, who was associated with Mr. Ames in the conduct of The Elms, will devote her entire attention to management of that, and improve-

WOMAN'S LEG FRACTURED WHEN TRIPPED BY DOG.

Saugerties, Feb. 13.—Mrs. George B. Trumbour of Main street was the victim of a peculiar accident on Friday evening, which resulted in her suffering a fractured leg. Mrs. Trumbour was walking on Main street when two dogs came running along, one of them striking her and then passing between her legs, tripping and knocking the woman to the sidewalk.

Mrs. Trumbour was taken to the office of Dr. B. W. Gifford, where an examination revealed the injury she had sustained. She was later taken to her home, where she is resting as comfortably as may be expected.

SOUTH RONDOUT.

South Rondout, Feb. 13.—The snow storm of Friday night well covered the village. It was the heaviest of the season.

Mrs. E. B. Haines is spending the week in New York city visiting relatives. Sheriff Saxo was a recent visitor in the village.

Jix saw puzzles are the indoor sports these days and wood cutting the outdoor sport of the men of the village.

The sympathy of the community is extended to the family of the late Captain Harter Hamilton, who was a resident of this village many years and lived on Connelly Heights before making his home with his son, Alexander Hamilton, in Weehawken. The score of the game Wednesday evening between the Men's Club of the M. E. Church and the Hercules Powder Co. men, held in the church basement, was 2-2.

Chapter 7
BOMBELLI'S SUGGESTION
 ONE moonlight night, as Otto sat leaning against the guard-room wall, thinking, as usual, of England, Home and Beauty—home at Yelverbury Castle and the beauty (mind, body and soul) of Margaret, a tall, blonde, walking delicately, came and seated herself beside him.

"Hot," he said. "It makes a sweat. Pour!"
 Bombelli again.
 "You like get outa dis?"
 "Wouldn't you?"
 "Sure 'ting. Me, I tink I get outa dis."
 "What do you mean?"
 "I go on pump. I make da promise. You deserta wit' me?"

 "Why you not?"

"Did you ever hear of Phil Vance?"

"Not such a fool. Nor such a swine."
 "By an' by, perhaps, when good chance come? I gotta da dollara. We get clean away."
 Bombelli laughed, felt silent and lit a cigarette.

"Say, Britisher, don't get high hat. I only make da joke. I play fool."
 "You certainly do."
 "I don't tink you deserta wit' me. I tell you trick worth better dan dat. You betcha life."

Otto vouchsafed no reply.
 "You wanna make good? You wanna get in good wit' Vittorelli? Wit' Vittorelli and da Major?"

"Why?"
 "Because I can show you how. I got Vittorelli in my pocket, see?"
 "No."
 "Well, I have. And Vittorelli got Big Boy Riccoli in his pocket, see?"

"No."
 "Well, he has. Like you got your three English frien' in your pocket. See? Lookit. Where you go, the other tree go too. What come in wit' us and bring them in too. Then you get in good wit' Vittorelli."

"What are you driving at? What's the game?"
 "Big game. Riccoli's game. You like to be a Rajah?"
 "Why, going to India, are we?"

Bombelli glanced anxiously round, placed his lips close to Otto's ear and whispered.
 "India? No, Morocco. See? You like to be a Kaid? Big man... officer... money... freedom... rank... wine... horses... women..."

"Call me Marguerite," yawned Otto.
 "What you mean?"
 "Ever read Faust, my chum? Marguerite?"
 "Talk sense."

"Same to you."
 "Lookit, Bellem. Will you come in wit' us and bring Munnerly, Bossum, Harris and Tant de Soff, Pousin, Petrovitch and the rest of your gang? Bring them in wit' us and all."

VALUE OF BARTER

Another interesting contribution to the growing literature of barter is this comment by Stuart Chase, economist writer and lecturer: "Barter probably cannot be much more than a temporary instrument. But for the present it will give men employment, build up morale and tend to keep goods moving. It also makes people realize that food does not come out of banks, and that's a help."

It is, indeed. It is time we were re-learning the old truth that we have forgotten in the daze of modern finance—the truth that money in itself is not value, nor the producer of value, but only an unsteady measure of value; that the real creators of value are human energy, intelligence and character. It is good to get back to basic realities, even under compulsion. Our future industry, trade and finance will be sounder for it.

THAT BODY OF YOURS

RESTING GOOD AS SLEEP

It is my privilege to examine practically all the heavyweight professional wrestlers and all the recognized champions and ex-champions. DeGlane, Lewis, London, George Sorenberg, Pesek, Zybsko, and while some of them do not get many hours of sleep, all of them sleep very soundly when asleep.

As you see the great amount of work they do in 30, 40, 60 or more minutes you wonder how they can do it as often as every night in the week. Yet many of these wrestlers motor 400, 500, 600, and even 700 miles, after a bout in one city, in order to be in another city for an engagement the following night. This usually means a sleep from about 2:30 p. m. to 7:30 p. m.—4 to 5 hours in the 24.

To my mind this is the wonderful part about these powerful men—that they can motor these hundreds of miles between bouts and give such a fast interesting exhibition of this new type of spectacular wrestling. The secret is that the sleep or rest they obtain gives the complete relaxation that enables the system to rid itself of the fatigue products—poisons—that accumulate when they wrestle and motor.

Many people worry because they can't sleep and sleep is so important to health that this worry is only natural. However, the point they forget is that while sound sleep is what is best, as you do not hear disturbing noises, nevertheless it is the position—lying down—during sleep that is the important factor in obtaining rest.

During sleep all the processes of the body become slower—the heart beats slower, the lungs breathe about four times less in the minute, the blood pressure becomes lower, and the temperature is lower also. Practically all the glands, except the sweat glands, do less work during sleep.

All this is obtained by quietly resting. Thus Dr. N. Kleitman, Chicago, says, "When one cannot sleep, it is well for the sufferer from sleeplessness to give up trying and just lie quietly awake, because the decrease in the activity of the muscles, heart, lungs, and so forth, is largely due to rest in a horizontal position, and lying quietly awake, therefore, is nearly as good as sleep."

Feb. 12, 1913—George Flick broke his leg in fall from a ladder. Stephen Mann and William Conway, two jurors in Boyce case, had narrow escape from being asphyxiated at the Eagle Hotel.

Feb. 13, 1913—Zero weather here. Edward J. Cunningham died at Cornwall.

FARMER HARVESTS $7,000 SEED CROP FROM 4 ACRES.

Dyersburg, Tenn. (AP).—So far as J. B. Hundler, farmer is concerned, the depression is whipped and whipped badly. Hundler harvested $7,000 worth of lespedeza seed this year from four acres of ground. The yield was 1,400 pounds, and value of the seed is $5 a pound.

Starting his venture last year with enough seed from the University of Tennessee to get a start, he harvested enough to sow the four acres this year.

It is estimated that only about 130,000 pounds of this particular variety of seed are available in the United States. A year ago the seed was worth $40 a pound.

Flashes of Life Sketched in Brief

(By The Associated Press.)
 Wonders Never Cease.

Columbia, Mo.—After 38 years, Claude M. Wheeler's umbrella is home again. Wheeler, who lives in Chicago, came to Columbia in 1895 to see the University of Missouri football team defeat Vanderbilt, 16 to 0. He etched the score and his name on his umbrella but lost it at a railway station. Last week he came to Columbia on a visit and recovered the umbrella from a bank porter, who found it hanging on a radiator.

No Trick for Richard.
 Chicago—Puzzles? Richard Mullikan can't 'em up.

Mr. and Mrs. Lee Mullikan spent hours on one of those twisted nail things—the trick being to get the two nails apart. They couldn't do it. Then Richard, aged three, took them apart in a jiffy and promptly swallowed one. A doctor took it out of Richard and said he'll be all right.

No Fooling?
 Detour, Md.—True to its name, this town is back on the maps of the state roads commission.

Until construction is completed on the Taneytown-Kermar highway, motorists will detour to Detour.

O Me, O My!
 Hammond, N. J.—Samuel Deane finds the life of a landlord is not all beer and skittles. He was fined $20 on a charge of trying to collect from a tenant at pistol point. Then, to make matters worse, Sam's friend, Frank Pizzano, was accused of attempting to "fix" the case.

The Cat's Away.
 Summerland, Miss.—The cat's away and the mice can play all they please at Mrs. J. R. Blakeney's.

The other morning when Mrs. Blakeney started to fix breakfast she found a $2 bill of the issue of 1899 lying in a pan with a bit of nibbled pork.

She believes it was left there by a mouse that knows the hiding place of a long concealed bank roll. Tasty tidbits are now scattered about the home to encourage the mice to keep up the good work.

Panning Education.
 St. Paul—Old fashioned "panning for gold" in the streams about his home town near Billings, Mont., is the method one Hamline University athlete will employ to raise funds next summer for school expenses.

Ken Fladager, guard on the basketball team, says there is gold in the streams—and he means to get some of it.

Just a Jokester.
 Chicago—Maybe somebody thought the police didn't have much to do. He phoned and complained that loud talk at an apartment party was disturbing his slumbers. The police found 35 persons at the party but no noise. Said Mrs. Ruth Brown, the hostess: "Somebody's kidding you. Every guest here is a deaf mute."

Cottons Recover From Their Inferiority Complex

A BUSINESS-LIKE COSTUME

Fashions by Eleanor Gunn

The Ups and Downs of the Brim

New York—It is altogether likely that an introduction to the new cottons will be necessary this spring. For it is quite possible that you will fail to recognize our old friend cotton, since so many exciting things have happened to it. Not many things are the better for being wrinkled, but cotton seems to be one of them. No wonder so many girls are raving over cotton dance frocks and no wonder so many cotton wardrobes are being planned. They have all the style motifs in the world, plus attractive color. Also, cottons have entirely got over the deplorable habit of going limp at the wrong time. No inferiority complex about the new dress cottons—you will love them.

Hats return for spring and have learned all manner of new wrinkles, as this group attests. In the group are the Breton sailor, the marquis and other new hats for immediate wear.

MID-HUDSON EGG AUCTION REVIEW

During the past week the volume of eggs sold on the egg auction at Poughkeepsie was slightly lower than that of the past three or four weeks. Prices were very firm and fancy grades sold at a premium over the New York city market. The prices received on the auction for the various grades were as follows:

N. Y. S. Fancy—Large white eggs, 18 to 20 cents per dozen; medium, 13 to 17; pullets, 14 to 16.

N. Y. U. S. Grade A—Large, 16 to 20; medium, 13 to 16; pullets, 12 to 14.

Producer's Grade—Mediums, 12 to 14.

Brown Eggs
N. Y. S. Fancy—Large, 18 to 20; medium, 12 to 17.

N. Y. S. Grade A—Large, 17 to 20; pullets, 14 to 16.

A total of 492 cases were sold at the above prices during the week. It is important for the consumer to remember that the above prices are wholesale prices in case lots of 30 dozen each, I. O. O. F. Poughkeepsie. Retail prices on the same grades should be proportionately higher.

The officers of the auction suggest that the producers do not let up in the careful grading now being done for the auction, because of the low prevailing market prices. The trade is more particular about quality now than ever before and the well graded high quality eggs will be purchased in preference to other and often at premium prices.

At the last meeting of the board of directors it was definitely decided not to take additional members on the auction. The volume is sufficient to meet the demand. The members now in the auction will be able to supply the necessary eggs during the spring season.

SIX-POINT CHICK MANAGEMENT PROGRAM.

Enrollments are practically complete in the chick management campaign being put on by the Farm Bureau poultry committee. The first lesson will be mailed to all those who have enrolled within a few days. It will include a special card on which a complete mortality record may be kept and a request card for Cornell Bulletin 139, "Plans for Poultry Houses." Those who have not yet enrolled but desire to receive the 15 free lessons on chick management, may still receive the complete series by applying at the Farm Bureau office, 74 John street, Kingston.

The first step in the six-point program is to "Hatch or Buy Chicks Early." For heavy breeds this means securing day-old chicks by April 1 and before May 1 for light breeds. If still earlier production is desired, they should be purchased accordingly. The lessons cover this point in much greater detail.

The second point is to "Start with well-bred chicks free from disease." The breeders from which eggs are secured should have averaged at least 160 eggs per bird during the pullet year. The eggs should be of good size and the color or shade of egg should be free from Pullorum disease, better known as B. W. D. The third point is to practice clean brooding; the fourth, raise chickens on clean ground; fifth, and lastly practice approved rearing methods. Each of these points is covered in detail in one or more of the lessons to be sent out during the next three months. All these lessons should be carefully read for future reference.

Both parties had conferred on the issue, with Republicans agreeing to support it and Democrats to oppose.

Wood Used by Indians for Bows
The wood used by American Indians for making bows was ash, birch, cedar, cottonwood, elm, hickory, oak, walnut, willow, witch-hazel and yew, depending on the wood available and the custom in various tribes. The Indians in sections of the country preferred second growth hickory. The wood must be seasoned at least three years before it is suitable for this purpose. Yew imported from Spain or Italy now is favored for bows.

Flowers Accommodate Insects
Many flowers that have their pollen carried from one plant to another by special insects that work only in the daytime, keep their blossoms open only during the hours when the insects are at work. Others, such as the honeysuckle, that make use of the night-flying moths as well as of bees and butterflies for their pollination, remain open day and night.

The Fable of Riding the Skyrocket

By GEORGE ADE

ONE there was a man who played safe. He preferred to not lay down a bet unless the odds were approximately 1,000 to 1 in his favor. Before he tackled any proposition he liked to gaze at it from all angles and get the outward aspects and inside dope.

All of that hum about "Nothing venture, nothing gain" had not been in his copy book but he remembered a tenuous page devoted to "Be sure your light and then go into the high."

Mr. Dawdell had always been cautious that way. He was not an ambitious Explorer, a reckless Experimenter or an Intrepid Pioneer. For instance, he didn't go in for any new-fangled didoes until they were five or six years old and had been thoroughly tested and approved by all the neighbors.

He never bought a bicycle until after Autos came in. He wanted to be sure that they were safe to use and would stand the wear and tear.

Up to last fall he wore a Derby. He didn't want to buy the Soft Kind until certain that the Fedora was more than a transitory Fad.

His excuse for wearing Detachable Cuffs is that the Style may change back at any time from Attached Cuffs to Detachable Cuffs and if it does he wants to have a lot of Detachable Cuffs all ready to wear. Here we have a Brand of Intelligence often encountered but seldom understood and appreciated.

Once he served on a Jury and held up the Verdict for Two Days because he felt sure that all of the Witnesses on Both Sides had perjured themselves. Consequently he was not in possession of any accurate information upon which to base a definite conclusion.

Hatching Out His Roll.
The only Reason he is alive now is that so many Drivers are good Dodgers because, when Mr. Dawdell gets out into the Street and it becomes a Question as to whether he shall hurry on across or beat it back to the Sidewalk, that is a Problem which cannot be settled offhand. He has to get out a Pencil and a Pad of Paper and work on it for quite a While.

Possibly you have heard of his famous Wager. On a certain Wednesday he laid odds of 2 to 1 that the next Day would be Thursday but that Evening he heard a Rumor that the World was coming to an End, so at 11:30 P. M. he hedged.

Even from this Blue Print you may be able to corral a correct Line on Mr. Dawdell, otherwise known as Safety First. All he wanted at any time was a lead-pipe Cinch which did not involve any Element of Risk.

The Bull Market and the Real Estate Boom were simply made to Order for Birds of his general Description. It being a well-known zoological Fact that the Village Miser who is afraid to put any Coin into the Building and Loan will always go to the County Fair and fall for the Shell Game.

It is the Concern promising Ten Per Cent a Month that brings all of that mildewed Money out of the Stockings. To the Sure-Thingers all that is Real looks Counterfeit whereas the Phonies seem to be not only plausible but absolutely gilt-edged.

Mr. Dawdell had pinched out a Bank Roll and he was sitting on it to keep it warm. He was waiting for a Chance to double his Money over Night but he didn't propose to rush into any speculative Deal until he knew that it was all-right, sound and guaranteed. In the meantime he was watching the Stock Market and the Guardian Angel supposed to take care of Suckers was on a Vacation.

Everything had been going up and up. He watched the Ticker and the Black Board and the Newspaper Quotations and he could not refrain from making Mind Rets.

All Set for a Killing.
As for instance, if he had bought 1,000 Shares of Milk Can Preferred on July 1st and held it until September 15th, he would have cleared enough to permit him to take on 5,000 Shares of Bobunkus Steel Coil Common at the Low Point and held it until just before the Holidays and then, by snapping all of the Velvet into Gilhooley Oil, Gas and Vapor he could have closed out early in February, just before the Break, with a total Profit of, say $500,000, or in Round Numbers $500,000, if not more. Making the Whole Thing well worth his time.

The only Reason in the World that he hadn't Played his Hunches and cleaned up a Ton of Jack was that he wanted to watch the Market for a considerable Period of Time and make sure that the Bull Movement was to be continuous and perpetual instead of a Spasmodic Reaction to certain evanescent Conditions, if you know what that means. If you don't, the Author will be unable to give you any Help.

Well, the upward Trend had been so continuous that even Mr. Dawdell finally knew that the Psychological Moment had arrived and that every thing was set for a Killing. As nearly as he could learn Every One Else in the World had been loading it into Trucks and carting it away and now it was Time for him to get His.

Miss Clarke had been in ill health for more than a year and died at the age of 81 years. She was born in Milton, Nov. 16, 1852, a daughter of the late Oscar Clarke and Rachel B. Sands Clarke, and had lived her whole life in Milton. Miss Clarke was a member of the Presbyterian Church. In 1881 she graduated from Bellevue Hospital Nursing School in New York City.

An impressive service was held Saturday afternoon for Mrs. Violet H. Kirchner, young wife of Harry L. Kirchner, of 23 Oakwood Boulevard, Poughkeepsie. The services were conducted first at the home and then at St. John's Lutheran Church, by the sermon by the Rev. Frederick Baum, pastor of the church. The profusion of floral offerings and the assemblage at the home, church and Montrose Cemetery, Kingston, where interment was made, fully attest the grief at her parting and the respect and devotion in which she was held. The Rev. O. E. Brandorf, pastor of the Lutheran Church of the Redeemer, assisted the Rev. Mr. Baum at the committal services. Ralph Cooper, Clarence Rowland, Edward Hillis and Frank Walter were the pall bearers.

U. S. May Adopt One More Hardwoods From Overseas
Immigration to the United States has not been limited to people but has extended to trees as well, according to J. A. Cope of the department of forestry at Cornell University. Three important European cone-bearers have already taken a prominent place in the American forest of the future.

Norway spruce is a native of Europe and is a dominant part of the forest landscape of the Highlands and the lower mountain slopes of central Europe. Scotch pine, which has been used exclusively for reforestation work in New York State, is not a native of Scotland but is found in vast areas in Prussia and Scandinavia. The imported Scotch pine sheds snow better than the native kinds, he says. European larch is also largely used in New York State. It is extremely fast growing on an acre of land in all Europe is a stand of larch planted 240 years ago, located in southeast Finland.

Professor Cope predicts that more important hardwood may be added to the list of imported trees from Europe. The European beech, he says, is faster growing, more decay resistant, has better form and habit, and its lumber commands a far higher price than that from the American beech.

The Educated One
There are four requisites of the educated man. He must know the general history of the world, the history of human ideas, one science, one language—preferably his own. Yet even with these essentials somewhere safe in the back of his head, a man might remain half educated.

Without humility we are uneducated. To become perfectly educated is impossible, but to try to become educated is education—as nearly perfect education as anyone can have. The well-educated man tries to know something about himself and others.

Favoritism Swings To Wright Over Mahoney

Favor in the choice of a winner in the feature bout of the charity card at the armory tonight has swung from "Sam" Mahoney, Connecticut heavyweight title holder, to Jack Jerry Wright of Poughkeepsie, who recently won the New York state amateur championship by defeating Billy Baxter in the Federation tournament at Rochester.

The shift from Mahoney as the favorite, who was brought down late Saturday afternoon in the early rounds, told by Mahoney's doctor, Studer, who asserted that Wright fractured several of Mahoney's ribs prior to knocking him out in the fourth round, bearing out the information given earlier in the week that the Poughkeepsie negro has recently developed as a puncher.

Wright is hitting harder now than when he won the Golden Gloves championship, and is much improved as a fighter in many other respects besides the art of punching with the speed and power that wins titles and makes pugilists who are masters of the leather swinging trade. Big box office attractions wherever fights are promoted.

Jerry himself can see no other way out of winning the match except by a knockout and says he will flatten Mahoney. The "Sam" boy, however, is confident of outpointing the dusky ring king and hopes to prove conclusively that his recent win over him at the local arena was not the result of a poor decision, as is the claim of some fans.

Although the general trend of favoritism today put Wright on the heavy end of the odds, many who like to wager a little on the side were heard to say that only "evens" were acceptable.

The heavyweight attractions promise more than any other "beef trust" engagement ever staged at the old drill shed and is expected to be on a par with the dashing scrap recently won by Otis Paradise of Brooklyn from Marty Moskowitz of Monticello. These two lightweights put up one of the best battles ever seen in these parts, showing about everything that an exciting boxing fan could demand.

Doc Studer, commenting on the scrap between the lightweights, said he expects to match the two for an engagement in the near future. If he does the seating capacity of the armory will likely be packed to overflowing.

Concerning the supporting scraps to tonight's headliner, plenty of action is foreseen by those supposed to know their cauliflowerers. The list follows:

Six Rounds
Semi-final—Johnny Raymond, Flatbush, vs. Jimmy Shannon, Hartford, Conn., middleweights.
Special—Jerry Trought, "Orpheum" Stinger, vs. Young Martin, Catskill, middleweights.

Four Rounds
Edsel Walker, Catskill negro, vs. Paulie Ritz, Hartford, Conn., heavyweights.
Jimmy Turner, Hartford, Conn., vs. Tony Angus, Haverstraw, lightweights.
Jimmy Rodden, Kingston, vs. Frank Sullivan, Hartford, Conn., lightweights.
Young Slicker, Kingston, vs. Spider Kelly, Flatbush, bantamweights.
Proceeds of the show will go to the Volunteer Aid Committee.

Bill Singer will referee and Sam Riber announce. Starting time is 8:30.

Ulster County Gun Club Scores

Last Saturday 21 members of the Ulster County Gun Club held a very interesting shoot with 25 gallons of gasoline, donated by the Kingston Oil Company as the prize. As usual the Shogren system of handicapping made the scores very close, and Leroy Longendyke was the winner by 1/4 of a point. The actual birds broken in this match will apply on the team match scores in the match being conducted this month. The personnel of the six teams will be announced next Saturday at the club shoot. Twenty-five gallons of gas will again be the prize next week.

Two Changes in Football Rules

Philadelphia, Feb. 13 (AP)—The national football rules committee has completed its annual study of the playing code and adopted only two changes in the regulations for 1933. Out of their three-day gathering at Green Hill Farms, just outside Philadelphia, the rules-makers came forth with these alterations:

First—Elimination of the sideline play through a new zoning system.

Second—A tightening of the restrictions against clipping so that this practice virtually is legislated out of the game.

Of the two alterations made in the rules, the more radical was that designed to eliminate the side-line play, one of teams marching goalward who find themselves to waste a down to bring the ball into better position.

Side Zones

To prevent this, the rules committee decided to establish side zones, ten yards in width, on either side of the field. Whenever the ball becomes dead within these zones, it will be moved to a point ten yards in from the side line, without time being called. At the same time, the committee decided that when the ball goes out of bounds it shall be brought in ten yards from the side line instead of 15 yards as heretofore.

Penalty Reduced

The rule against clipping was altered to make it illegal for a player to run into the back of an opponent not carrying the ball, adding to the previous rules against throwing or dropping the body across the back of the leg or legs of the opponent below the knee. In the future, the penalty was reduced from 25 yards to 15, after committee members had pointed out that the heavier penalty led some officials to hesitate about calling it.

Spinny's Beat Rosendale, Meet Goshen Tuesday

Falling to capitalize on more than four complimentary chances out of 15 given them by Referee Harold "Johnny" Johnson, the Rosendale Firemen lost at home to the Spinny Radio Five of Port Ewen Saturday night, 16-29. The dial twisters made good nine times from the free throw line out of 13 chances. Besides this they scored 10 times from the field to six scrimmage baskets made by the Firemen.

The visitors asserted superiority early in the contest, leading 15-8 at half time. They continued in the second session, playing in a manner that prevented the hose handlers from gaining more than eight more points. Leading scorers were Hank Krum for Port Ewen with 9 points, and Kelder and Jeghers for Rosendale with 6 apiece.

Victory in Saturday's contest served to fortify the brigade of Alanson H. Short for its clash at Pythian Hall, Port Ewen, Tuesday with the strong St. John's team of Goshen to which it lost once this season by the score of 41-50. This game is a special event, being scheduled for tomorrow night instead of Thursday, regular weekly contest for Spinny's at home.

Beside the feature which is slated for 9 o'clock there will be two others. The Fullers will meet another girls' quintet at 7:30 and the Chocolaters will test the Spinny Aces at 8:15.

Friday night the Spinny's will invade White Eagle Hall, Delaware avenue, to fight it out with the Morgan Repealers, who lay claim to the pro basketball championship of Ulster county, having defeated the Rangesles Bigtows and Highland American Legion, two outstanding quintets of this region. The Repealers hold one victory over the Spinny Club. They won by a lone point margin earlier in the season.

SPORT SLANTS By ALAN J. GOULD (Associated Press Sports Editor.)

While football coaches are coming out somewhat loudly in favor of giving more of a "break" to the offense, by divers methods of scoring or rules-shifting, it develops the new basketball regulations in effect this winter have successfully achieved just such an objective.

The legislation designed to check stalling, some of my scouts report, has produced more action and higher scoring generally in college basketball. They tell me the "good little man" also is benefited in a sport which requires as much speed, alertness and stamina as any we know of, dating before and since the days when we played on the opera house court at Horseheads, N. Y., in continual fear of being seared by the wood stove standing in one corner.

As one who knows his basketball and has studied it with as much attention to detail as a technocrat, H. W. Funk of the Monroe (Mich.) Evening News finds the new rules producing satisfactory results except insofar as they tend to develop more whistle-blowing.

He discovers, in Big Ten competition, an average of 24 personal fouls called per game and points to this as exposing basketball to the same criticism that has been leveled at football—that of giving the official too conspicuous a role.

But this, as was the case in college and school football early last fall, may be attributed to forgetfulness or unfamiliarity with the new regulations in the heat of brisk competition. It will be interesting to see what the figures show and what the general re-action is after a full season's test.

Ivory—Its Source

For no particular reason except curiosity and a penchant for statistical tabulation sometimes uncontrollable, we have examined major league player rosters for 1933 to find out just where all this "ivory" comes from or doesn't come from.

Upon analysis of eight of the sixteen club lists we find some sections of New England and most of the Rocky Mountain area entirely without representation, with California on the other hand leading all the states of the union in its contributions to the major league game.

Idaho, which turned loose Walter Johnson upon a great pitching career, and Montana, once the home of "Bullet Joe" Bush, do not have a single delegate on the rosters available thus far. Neither has Colorado, Nevada, New Mexico or Wyoming.

The only other blank columns in our tabulation are those for New Hampshire, Rhode Island and Vermont.

With the first half of the returns from Illinois comes next with 21, and at 20 each, Texas shows 17 and Massachusetts rallies to the colors with 12. Alabama answers the roll-call with 11 and Florida with 10.

Hebrews Play Hunter Tonight

A crowd is expected to attend the basketball game between the Hebrew-Americans and Hunter Y. M. H. A. tonight at 8:45 o'clock in the Downtown Jewish Community Center. The locals hold one victory over the Hunter boys, having defeated them at home, and the mountaineers are anxious to even things tonight. Preliminary to the feature, the Hebrew-American Girls will play the Newburgh Flashes at 8 o'clock.

Bea Skin Coats That Ain't A bear skin coat is a coat made of any animal except a bear.

Kingston Plays At Rindon Prep

Kingston High plays Raymond Rindon Prep of Highland Wednesday, there, and it is expected that Rindon will give Kingston its toughest competition of the season. The Prep boys have the reputation of a college squad, winning from teams like the West Point Pirates.

The Maroon will have its hands full and will probably be able to recent a bit of the perfection of Monticello in the tactics of Rindon. Kingston will be tested in every department and its real strength will be known once and for all. From this outcome one might gather a hint as to probable results of the Monticello and Port Jervis games. Both of these squads are the strongest in the DUSO League and are probably in Rindon's class, so the latter might serve as a barometer for the future.

Port Jervis Friday
And Port Jervis, the school following on the heels of Monticello, the leaders of the league, will be here Friday evening in the local school gym to settle a battle with Kingston that has been pending for the past five weeks. Many fans have been waiting for the clash.

Port has one of its best teams in years and has lost only one DUSO game out of five. The one defeat was at the hands of Monticello. Many teams have been complaining about the poor court of the mountain team and the Red and Black loss was attributed to the gym. Port Jervis, however, didn't say a word to this effect but other experts have given their opinion as such.

Port and Rindon are two top notch teams and Kingston has a thing or two to combat this week. It is probably the roughest stretch of the season, for a week from Friday, Monticello appears on the schedule.

Hall, High Falls, where they meet the celebrated Delhi quintet, which has won 11 out of 13 games so far this season. Among the clubs defeated by Delhi were the Morgan Repealers, twice; Grand Gorge and the highly touted Baltimore Orioles.

In the preliminary the Comforter Girls will meet the Rockets at 8 o'clock. Dancing will follow the games.

MRS. SHARPLES TALKS AT PORT EWEN P. T. A. MEETING

Port Ewen, Feb. 12.—A regular monthly meeting of the Port Ewen P. T. A. Association was held in the schoolhouse Friday afternoon. The meeting was called to order by the president, Mrs. Paul Beaver.

A lengthy discussion regarding means to provide necessary funds for the association was held, after which the guest speaker of the afternoon, Mrs. M. H. Sharples, was introduced by Mrs. Raymond Howe. The topic of Mrs. Sharples' talk was "A Child's Room, His Books, Games and Pictures," and the subject matter was presented in a very able manner. The necessity of having a room or a corner of a room which the child could call his own was stressed. If he were fortunate enough to have a room of his own, the speaker described how such a room could be made attractive and by so doing, the interest of the child could be aroused and would be an incentive to him to make his room more livable.

The matter of books for children was next taken up. Mrs. Sharples recommended that the stories be the best that could be procured and that there be a variety from which the child could make a selection. As to games, the speaker brought out that there are some which are informative as well as pleasantly diverting. Her attention was brought to a young boy who had made a jig saw puzzle of New York state and separated it into counties. In this manner his small country had thoroughly learned the location of each, not realizing that she was learning as well as finding enjoyment in the game. Next Mrs. Sharples told how pictures for the child's room could be made by the parent from those found in magazines or on calendars. She also brought out the fact that they should be of interest to the child and as far as possible, copies of recognized pictures or portraits.

Founders' Day was then observed by Mrs. Basil Potter reading the message of the president of the National Congress of Parents and Teachers. After the reading of the message a large birthday cake was displayed and Mrs. William Schweigel was appointed to light the many candles thereon. Refreshments were then served and the meeting was adjourned.

FOUNDERS' WEEK
1859 - 1933

More than seventy years ago the Founders of this company said "consumers were paying too many and too large profits on articles of everyday consumption." They proposed "to supply these necessities at the smallest possible price." On this basis A & P has become the world's largest food retailing organization. This week we honor the Founders of our company with a sale which even more than usual emphasizes the results of our policy of selling "at the smallest possible price."
